

Dear Comrades,

our dear friends who represent the world's oppressed peoples, HELLO!

With the warmth and eagerness of our continuing resistance against isolation in F Type Prisons for fifteen years, we send our greetings and embrace you.

At a time, while imperialist extortionists, for the sake of their despicable interests, exploit the whole world and try to strangle the oppressed peoples in blood, the symposium's revealed will is growing our belief on redemption.

The struggle against imperialism and its collaborators in many countries of the world will be further strengthened with those international units, and this will develop our consciousness on fight together against this common enemy.

Dear Friends; Comrades of Che, Simon Bolívar, George Habbas, Rosa Luksemburg, and Dimitrov! We became more closer to you with each line we read about the history and literature about the world revolution. Our attachment to the peoples of the world has grown after we get acquainted with you. We learnt from every fight for revolution, we learned lessons about the struggle. One day our hearts were at the Frente Sandinista in Nicaragua, at another day we tossed stones that rained on Zionist invaders, next to the children generals of Palestinian intifada. With comradely feelings, we felt attached to the gallants who fought for the revolution all over the world. Therefore internationalism has never been a discrete concept for us. Since the first time in history we come across with the imperialism, among the oppressed peoples; we were always on the side of the struggle for independence, democracy, and socialism. We never deprived our friendship and solidarity... Even today, to the utmost of our voices and breath we make efforts to give voice to the revolts of world's peoples, we are striving to strengthen their struggle.

Despite the wall that surrounds us, the symposium which we follow and try to strengthen for years, taught us a lot about the strength and opportunities of unions to be established against imperialism. We will continue to learn from you.

At this point today, we realize that we came a long way to know, understand, and reinforce our confidence to each other. And with this awareness, we believe that it is time to grow our union with practical and solid steps.

How the suffering around the world is growing the same anger and desire to pay off, it can also collectivize our willpower we present. The International unions established on the basis of the oppressed peoples' struggle, only in this way, can create new horizons for itself.

We strongly believe that we can achieve this. Although our language, customs and traditions, and practices on struggle may vary from country to country, in a way, we are the one and we're together. With the comradely feelings we attached to the revolutionary, patriotic insurgents, to everyone that our voice reaches and whose hearts on the side of people, we send our call on unity and struggle.

Let's unite against imperialism, fight, and win!

We thank to everyone who contributed to organize and accomplish the Symposium, we send our greetings loaded with hope and resistance from the F-type cells.

Down with imperialism!

Long live the struggle of the people! Imperialism will be defeated, Peoples Will Win!

Revolutionary Greetings,

Free prisoners of Prison No. 2, F Type, Tekirdag.
